Access tracks and turbine erection:

All turbines on the southern side are fully erected and the crane has moved to the northern side to complete the final 5 turbines. Remediation continues as hard stands are removed and the pastureland is being restored.

Connections assets:

Work is continuing along the transmission line with tracks and hardstands being constructed and foundations being poured for the poles. The collector substation is progressing well. The switch room is in place, the operations and maintenance buildings are mostly fitted out and the area is ready for the transformer delivery.
